NEW PLYMOUTH, NEW ZEALAND

EXPLORE THE STUNNING "GOBLIN FOREST" OF THE EGMONT NATIONAL PARK

When asked to describe his homeland, (Lord of the Rings Trilogy and The Hobbit director) Peter Jackson said "New Zealand is not a small country but a large village" and never a truer word was spoken about New Plymouth. Named after Plymouth in England when the first British settlers arrived in 1841, the city is a hybrid of traditions. Treasure, stories and culture fuse perfectly together with coastal walkways, botanic gardens and award winning golf courses in this bubbly, artsy city.

Located in the Taranaki Region on New Zealand's North Island, New Plymouth has won multiple awards for its positive attitude towards pedestrians and cyclists and community sustainability. Ruled by the great outdoors and more notably Mount Taranaki, this majestic 8261 feet/2,518 metre snow-capped active volcano looms over the city with the ever-present threat of eruption (although the last eruption dates back to 1814), thus making the city and its surroundings a veritable haven for those who love outdoor pursuits.

Rising above the clouds, the volcano beckons walkers and those who do make it to the top are compensated with spectacular sea vistas from their privileged position, perched high above the city.

SIGHTS

- Pukekura Park
- Egmont National Park
- Puke Ariki Museum
- Govett-Brewster Art Gallery
- Brooklands Zoo
- Tūpare Garden
- Dawson Falls

TE REWA REWA BRIDGE

At the mouth of the Waiwhakaiho River you can find an iconic landmark and truly unique artwork: the Te Rewa Rewa Bridge. Thanks to its spectacular setting, shape and sightlines, the sparkling white structure attracts visitors to walk, run or cycle along the Coastal Walkway.

Since opening in 2010, the bridge has won numerous awards for both its innovative architecture and impressive engineering. While its curving steel arches were designed to look like the skeleton of a whale or a breaking wave, the bridge's flow and form highlight the harmonious relationship between the land, sea and wind. An impressive sight is the snow-topped Mount Taranaki majestically framed by the structure of the bridge.
