BROOME, AUSTRALIA

THE GATEWAY TO FURTHER ADVENTURE IN THE KIMBERLEY REGION

Wandjina is a powerful Rain Maker spirit associated with the north-west region of the Kimberley in Western Australia. Wandjina dreamtime images are painted on the rock galleries and in caves throughout the region, marked in red and white ochre. The Wandjina images are painted in significant ritual sites for Aboriginal people of the region, and the paintings were traditionally repainted each decade to ensure the image was kept fresh and lively. The significance of the Wandjina dreamtime story was shared by a number of language groups across the west and coastal areas of the Kimberley, including Ngarinyin, Worrora, and Wunambul people. Wandjina is the most significant Creation Spirit, associated with rain and therefore the seasonal regeneration of the land and all natural resources. The body of Wandjina is often shown covered with dots that represent the rainfall.

The cyclonic wet season brings rain to the Kimberley, and elements of the torrential rains, lightning and thunder are often included in the imagery around the head of the Wandjina. Ceremonial dances that pay homage to the Wandjina Rain Spirit can include headdresses that symbolically refer to lightning and thunder. The facial characteristics of Wandjina can be seen to represent climatic features.

The eyes of the Wandjina can represent thunderstorms and even the line between the eyes resembles a nose, but is actually a power line which is used to transfer energy. Small brush marks on the Wandjina's body usually represent rain drops. When depicted with only head and shoulders the Wandjina is said to be moving across the sky in a cloud or storm. A full-bodied Wandjina is said to be present walking the Earth. Some attempts to date the rock paintings of Wandjina in the Kimberley suggest that they may date back 4,000 years. The Wandjina images are often painted alongside much older images of Gwion Gwion (Bradshaw figures), that date back at least 18,000 years.

Wallabies, dingoes, snakes, and lizards also inhabit the park, as well as a range of feathered critters, from emus to cockatoos and kookaburras. Stay for the croc feeding, when some of the largest crocodiles in Australia demonstrate their surprising agility as they lunge for food.

THE GREAT AMERICAN SONGBOOK

TONIGHT'S SHOW

▶ AT 9:30PM
THE SHOW LOUNGE, DECK 6

Well remembered for their performances on national television and work in Australia, Asia and London, Steve and Mike Foenander present exquisite renditions of classic jazz standards up to new and exciting arrangements of contemporary songs. With precision harmonies that can only be achieved by brothers, Mike and Steve bring their own brand of humour to the show.

Think Frank Sinatra meets Michael Buble or Tony Bennett meets Jamie Cullum. Best friends and brothers, Steve and Mike love their audience and use every last breath to bring back the best in popular music and leave the audience wanting more. Mike and Steve Foenander enter stage right like the seasoned performers they are, there's no doubting the skill and pizzazz these brothers have; something that comes only from many years spent performing on stage.

The Foenander Brothers swing their way through so many of the classics like Come Fly With Me, Sway and New York, New York. Mike possesses a strong, punchy voice, whereas Steve has more smooth undertones; different as their vocal approaches are, together – in unison or in harmony – their voices make for the perfect musical combination.

HAND WASHING & HAND SANITIZING

Keeping hands clean through improved hand hygiene is one of the most important steps we can take to avoid getting sick and spreading germs to others. Many diseases and conditions are spread by not washing hands with soap and clean, running water. Alcohol-based hand sanitizers can quickly reduce the number of germs on hands. Please use the hand sanitizers situated at the entrance door of the dining outlets and various locations around the ship.
